AUTHOR RALPH WEBSTER

THURSDAY APRIL 11, 2019 5:00 PM

Mr. Webster will be discussing One More Moon: Goodbye Mussolini! One Woman's Story of Fate and Survival, Mr. Webster tells the true story of his grandmother's desperate journey from her life at the Pensione Alexandra in Naples, Italy to America—after Mussolini and the Fascists join with Hitler—and as countries across the world close their doors to Jewish refugees fleeing. Mr. Webster will have copies of his book for sale, and will be available for questions and autographs at the end of the program.

ARCHAEOLOGIST MARTHA WILLIAMS

MONDAY MAY 6, 2019 5:30 PM

Ms. Williams will be discussing the on-going efforts to understand early English settlements in northeastern North Carolina. Most recently, her research has focused on Site X, or Mattaquem, a 17th century Native American village site in Bertie County that has also produced early English artifacts. The findings from Site X could possibly connect the site to the research being conducted at Fort Raleigh on Roanoke Island, the location of "The Lost Colony," which Ms. Williams has participated in since 1991. Her other research includes cataloging artifacts from the River Bridge site near South Mills, NC.
